resolution offered by, that the Speaker of the House may, and he is hereby directed to, appoint a select committee, consisting of five members of this House, to be selected from the Committee on Agriculture, to take into consideration such measures as may tend to promote the agricultural interests of the country, to investigate the system and workings of the Department of Agriculture, and report, by bill or otherwise, such additional legislation as may be deemed necessary for the promotion of the Department of Agriculture and the advancement and protection of agricultural interests. Said committee may sit during the recess, and shall have power to send for persons and papers, to employ a clerk, stenographer, and such other persons as may be necessary to such investigation. And in order to defray the expenses of said investigation the Clerk of the House is directed to pay to the Sergeant-at-Arms of the House, out of the contingent fund of the House, the sum of $3,000, whose receipt shall be a good and sufficient voucher to the Clerk in the settlement of his accounts. The aforesaid sum of money, or so much thereof as may be necessary, shall be disbursed on vouchers approved by the chairman of said committee, and the Sergeant-at-Arms shall make report to this House in detail of the manner in which said sum has been expended, accompanied by vouchers, which report, when examined and approved by the Committee of Accounts, shall be deemed a sufficient settlement of his accountability therefor, and any unexpended balance in his hands shall be paid by him into the Treasury to the credit of the fund from which it is paid.

whereas the Secretary of the Treasury in his annual report for the year 1877, referring to the payment of claims against the Government, said "most of these claims are paid out of what are classed as permanent annual appropriations contained in section 3689, Revised Statutes, which do not come under the annual supervision of Congress. These appropriations, though declared to be annual, have been used for the payment of claims, however old, including nearly every case of fraudulent or exaggerated claims paid by this Department: therefore,

whereas it has been announced in the public press that a contract has been entered into by and between the Central Pacific Railroad Company and the Union Pacific Railroad Company on the one part and the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, on the other part, by the terms of which contract the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, in consideration of receiving one million three hundred and twenty thousand dollars annually for five years from the railway companies, binds itself to accept and charge such rates for freight and passengers as may be fixed by the railroad companies, and to collect the same from the commercial public; and whereas the effect of such a contract is directly prejudicial to the public interest and contrary to the public policy that controlled Congress in chartering the Union Pacific Railroad Company, and in granting to both railway companies large subsidies in money and lands: therefore, that the Committee on the Judiciary be directed to inquire, specifically, whether such a contract exists, and to do so shall have power to send for persons and papers, and shall report what legislation is necessary to protect the public interests in the premises; and such committee may sit in vacation and report by bill or otherwise.

resolutions offered by—whereas eleven months of trial has demonstrated conclusively that the resumption of specie payments entered upon on the 1st day of January, 1879, has been a success equal to the hopes of the most sanguine friends of that measure; and whereas it has been equally well and fully established during the same period that as a nation we have the ability to keep in circulation at par with coin three hundred and fifty million dollars of United States notes, commonly called greenbacks; and whereas under the operation of these, in connection with the coinage of the silver dollar, the financial and commercial interests of the country in the last eleven months have attained a degree of prosperity unequaled in any similar period in the last twenty years; and whereas any agitation of the financial question at this time would have a tendency to unsettle public confidence and produce unrest and distrust in the business affairs of the country: therefore, that in the opinion of this House sound policy demands and safe legislation requires that no change be made at this session of Congress in reference to any of the measures referred to, but that in view of the present prosperous condition of the country financially we should "let well enough alone."
